

Animal Love

I think that everybody who knows me is aware of how I feel about animals. I love animals, and they seem to know it. Over the years (and there's a lot of them) – I couldn't even begin to tell you how many cats and dogs have found me, the softie. So, I was pleased to hear that there is a woman in Grantsville who feels the same way.

She has taken it upon herself to start her very own animal rescue. I am so proud of her and her efforts. Trust me; it will be a tough job. She can use all the help that she can get. She will always need cat food (indoor kind), dog food (Beneful), cat toys and treats, dog toys and treats, collars, leashes, and kitty litter (lots of kitty litter– the scoop–able kind).

Also, any old towels, wash cloths, dish rags, kitchen towels, peroxide, cotton balls, and Q-tips would be appreciated. Of course, anything that you can do would be appreciated.

I'm sure that most of you probably already know her, but I just got to know her and was very impressed. I have never met her face to face, but have talked to her on the phone. I applaud her efforts and hope that you do too. Her name is Erin Springston and she works in the Calhoun Bank in town. Stop in and see her if you can or will help. Every little bit helps and she and the animals will be grateful. If you can't help her then do me a favor and get your pets spayed or neutered.

I wish all of our readers and friends a Happy and Holy Easter Season.
